ORANGE ELEVEN BENT ON REVENGE

Up-State Team Still Feels Sting of 35-0 Rout of Last Season.

Coach Sanford Renames Effective Western Formation the 'Huddle.'

By DANIEL.

Up in the saline fastnesses of Syracuse there's a football team which is being fed on raw meat all week and whose desire for vengeance is being developed to a degree of ferocity which as made each player a study in psychology as well as anthropology. Each afternoon hundreds of students sit up in the stands and yell at the Syracuse "Go get Pittsburgh!" Each evening Chick Meehan and his assistant coaches meander through the dressing room and whisper a private, individual whisper into the shell like suffered against Pittsburgh last October, when a set of Panthers who had been beaten by Lafayette and scared by West Virginia and Cincinnati suddenly found themselves and ran the Orange ragged. Pitt trounced Syracuse by 35 to 0 right out in front of a crowd which jammed of Forbes Field. And Syracuse, which never got over that stunning defeat last fall, finds the sting still smarting. This time Syracuse faces a Pitt eleven which has been beaten twice. In addition to the setback by Lafayette, 7 to 6, the Panthers have been outdone by West Virginia, which, after years of threatening, finally made good last Saturday, 5 to 6. Pittsburgh has won only one game—the opening affair with Cincinati, in which it piled up the very score made by Georgetown against the Rhinglanders last Saturday, 37 to 6. Glen Warrer has been handicapped a great deal by injuries. But his main trouble may be traced to the graduation of Tom Davies, who is helping John Heisman at Pennsylvania. Warner cannot find another for the faily with a clear field and warstly fumble on the 35 yard line and added another for the first failed to develop a formidable running attack.

Tom Thorp Keeps Gates Locked at Violet Practice.

Foster Sanford at last seems to have borrowed something from Western foot-ball. He has adopted the "tea party" formation, as the signals are called. Yesterday he told us that he calls it the a more virile and distinctive name for the formation than it has in

The huddle is a great formation, particularly for speeding up the game," said Sandy. "Last Saturday, when we heat Lehigh, Rutgers ran off seventeen plays in exactly 4 minutes and 45 seconds, for 55 yards and a touchdown. Our backs gather in a little group, fac-ing away from the opposition, and then break right late the play. It is a very Ruigers is putting in some hard licks for a game which is likely to be as hard a buttle as any the Scarlet will play this season. On Saturday Sanford's men meet the eleven from Bethany, which is a little college in West Virginia, but has a habit of turning out big football teams. A week ago last Saturday Bethany held Washington and Jefferson's fine team to a score of 12 to 7.

Bethany has a hefty, husky line and a set of fast backs, and will make a determined endeavor to hand Rutgers its first setbuck of the season.

To return to the "huddle," we look for at least half the teams of the East to use that formation, perhaps not exclusively, in another two years. It has many advantages and no disadvantages that we can see. A play breaking out of the "huddle" is bound to catch the operation just a trifle unset.

Colgate and Dartmouth Practice in Snowstorm

WHILE the first snowfall of the season lent a tuneless ac-companiment, the Colgate and Dartmouth football teams went and Dartmouth football teams went through practice seeions yesterday for their respective engagements next Saturday. At Hamilton, N. Y., the home of the Maroon, the players drilled in a make belleve blizzard, while at Hanover, N. H., the worst they had to contend with was one of those "November snows" famed in riyme—and the Green regulars dashed through the crystal flaked atmosphere and the scrubs for five touchdowns.

Colgate spent an hour correcting its weak points, catching and running back punts, and perfecting a tighter defense for the hard tussle with Cornell.

Brown Developing Attack for Game With Lehigh.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 18.—The Brown coaches began in earnest to-day to develop a punch for the game with Lehigh at Bethlehem on Saturday. The offensive against Syracuse was a shock to Ed Robinson after the efforts of himself and Reggle Brown to inject driving power into the team and this week he has been concentrating on attack. Bob Adams and Faulkner, two of the Bears' best backs, warmed up with the squad this afternoon and may be fit to play against Lehigh.

Duffy Myers, quarterback, who was dared by a smaph in the head while he defersion and the arrangement is likely to continue through the Georgia Workout of the Princeton varsity football squad saw the return of a number of regulars who have been on the sick and Stoiz was substituted for Parr at left end.

The change werks a considerable loss of weight to the team. Zuber is outself to play against Lehigh.

The Kaiser went a little further, but it was the same idea.

One little trouble with the system is that a married man, if he wishes to say the mystic words without fear of interruption or contradiction, has to say the mystic words without fear of interruption or contradiction, has to practice outside the home. But what we started to say way back at the beginning was that the Colonels, Ruppert and Huston, might find this a great thing for use with their ball players. The Yankees should prove ideal substitute in two weeks, but neither will play saturday. Jones has made no heange in the

Who knows how many circuit clouts he might have made if he had only said: "Every day in every way I am growing better and better," instead of standing around listening to the fans say: "Every day in every way he is growing fatter and fatter." And yet owners might not care so much about any autosuggestion. The auto has left tackie. Hulman and Eddy were on the ends, Diller was Joss's companion tackle. Cross and Crulckshank were at guard. Jordan, Mallory and Neale were in the backfield.

Pillsbury, a big guard, was moved up to the varsity from the scrub team to-day. He played on the freshman team two years ago. Pillsbury comes from Minneapolis, weighs 207 pounds and is five feet eleven inchest tall. Jones believes he has the making of a first rate guard.

There was one baseball player who actually did prove the efficiency of the theory. He changed the formula a little, but it kept him in the big leagues and is five feet eleven inchest tall. Jones believes he has the making of a first rate guard.

Coue. He is the man who converses so much about autosuggestion. We always thought that autosuggestion was what a salesman used when he sold you an automobile, but it seems to be something different.

We learn that autosuggestion is hooked up with the subconscious mind and that this is what causes most of the trouble in the world. The cure, according to Emile Coue, is to go around saying: "Every day in every way I am growing better and better."

He says that's the dope, but it sounds a little egotistical to us. That's what Billy Miske kept on saying all the time he was training for the Gibbons bout. And the last time we saw him he was on the floor looking up at the referee. Maybe he didn't say it just right. Something slipped.

Managers and press agents all over the land have been using this system for years for fighters and actors. When a fighter or an actor speaks for himself he generally improves on it. He says: "Every day, including Sundays and holidays, I am the best there is." The Kaiser went a little further, but it was the same idea.

Boley, we hear, has been sold to the Tigers, subject to the ratification of Ty Cobb when he returns from his hunting trip in Canada. The Oriole shortstop is a fine fielder and a pretty effective hitter and Ty has been looking for a shortstop for several seasons. Cobb also is after a couple of pitchers and if he lands them—watch those Tigers.

The minor league session is likely to prove another big financial success for the Pacific Coast League. Last winter a Buffaloithe Coast League Last winter a Buffaloithe Coast League acarried away a record sum for men like Jimmy O'Connell, Pinelli, Caveney, Pillette, Johnson, Statz, Hack Miller and Couch. The Coast Leaguers will come to Louisville with a big crop of pitchers and probably will sell most of the eligibles. We understand that Vernon has already disposed of Jake May, the little slinger who used to be with the Cardinals, to the Yankees. Jake won thirty three and lost only nine. The Giants already have announced the purchase of George Walberg, lefthander, from Portland.

Oakland has Buzz Arlett on the market and wants only $75,000 for him. Death Valley Jim Scott, the old White Sox pitcher, who made a great comeback with San Francisco this year, has been offered to the Giants along with Arlett and Mitchell, another San Francisco the Main office, 155 EAST 24TH ST.

For the last time: The Giants won four straight and all bets should be paid on that basis. There was a ruling, we believe, back in 1907, when the Tigers and the Cubs tied in the first game and Chicago took the next four, that the Cubs had not won four straight. But leading betting commissioners have decided that the Giants beat the Yankees four in a row, and that's that.
